Rules/Mechanics

Reviewed video plays and discussed block/charge scenarios

Reaffirmed the importance of maintaining/creating quality angles to give yourself the opportunity to officiate the play from start to finish and give yourself the opportunity to see the entire play and where players came from before a crash occurs

Visitor – Carl Woods (Fairfield Girls Varsity Basketball Coach)

Coach thanked the officials in the room for their dedication to the game and appreciates the role they have in the sport. Discussed his view on how he approached officials especially later in his career as he himself recognized that being more approachable with officials is going to make things easier for all involved. Coach noted that when his approach is calm, the official response is typically the same. If he sees or hears any issues from his players towards officials, he immediately removes them from the game and handles the situation and uses it as a teaching moment to eliminate from all players behavior moving forward.
